

EATING INDEPENDENTLY TASTES THE BEST.

After all, shaky hands, limited movement in the neck or the lack of a functional second hand make it nearly impossible for people with these disabilities to eat and drink on their own. Having to be fed or spilling on the table or yourself can have a negative effect on self-esteem and even lead to refusal to eat.

The supportive features in the ORNAMIN tableware compensate for just these types of disability and facilitate independent and carefree eating and drinking. They hold products securely in place on the table, prevent them from slipping out of hands and, like an invisible second hand, allow people with just one hand to eat on their own with ease. And 'invisible' is just the right word, as all these tricks are incorporated into the design in such a way that they are hardly noticeable at first glance.

NON-SLIP BOARD:

- non-slip ring under the base
- raised on three sides of the board, the edges prevent bread from slipping
- great assistant for one-handed eating
- the perfect addition for vegetables and fruits: the Food Preparation Help

EATING AND DRINKING WITH MS.

Help, tips and ideas for everyday life.

THE DISEASE WITH 1.000 FACES.

Multiple sclerosis, or MS for short, is also called „the disease of 1000 faces“: no two cases are alike. The dysfunction that MS causes in the nervous system because of inflammation can vary greatly in its extent and duration.

It is mostly young adults who are affected – and with it, their future plans for family and career. MS cannot be cured and life with the illness is anything but easy, but tips, tricks and sensible aids can make life a bit easier and better.

The key to retaining independence is activation: problems with coordination and movement can only be countered by constant practise. After all, only through everyday practise can the skills be restored and retained.

FEATURES FOR INDEPENDENT EATING AND DRINKING.

Problems with sensitivity, numbness and tingling in the arms, legs and torso can limit the movements that are required in everyday life. Eating soup becomes a challenge, particularly when the visual disturbances typical of MS occur, limiting perception of contrast and sharpness.

With the supportive features integrated into its universal design, the family tableware by ORNAMIN helps MS sufferers to retain some enjoyment and zest for life at the dining table: the coloured edge of the tableware creates a clear contrast to the white inside and also the dinner table for better orientation.

The plates, bowls, cups and boards are characterised by their intuitive handling. The little supportive features hidden in the design make everyday challenges easier to overcome. Our tableware thus helps people to promote and retain independence in eating and drinking.

Friends and family members can also improve the quality of life for those affected by helping them to help themselves.

OUR EATING AND DRINKING AIDS...

...help with retaining and promoting independence thanks to their intuitive handling (universal design).

...provide orientation for those with limited vision thanks to the colourful contrasts.

...relieve those affected and their carers and helpers of some of the burden.

...make eating and drinking with limited motor skills in hands, arms and neck easier.

This is what Sabine Marina, MS patient, blogger and film director, has to say about ORNAMIN tableware:

„The supportive features in the family tableware by ORNAMIN are enlightening and in touch with everyday life. They help to make sure that any physical restrictions at the dining table remain invisible and the person affected doesn't lose the joy of eating and drinking. It is good to know that ORNAMIN thinks about the physical disabilities that dominate the lives of those with MS and develops solutions that can be used everyday and which do not stigmatise.“
